NEWSLETTER - WEEK 6, Feb.9-16 2024

Who do you follow? We live in a digital reality where we follow bloggers, tweeters, Youtubers. We have our own followers on Instagram and Facebook. How many followers do you have?

"Follow me," Jesus said. It was not a command. It was an invitation. Those simple words started a revolution. Now in 2024, Jesus has more than 2 billion followers spread across the globe. No historical figure has ever influenced as many people, communities, civilizations, cultures, and nations as Jesus Christ. He never started a political party, gathered no army, built no building, never wrote books, did not move in the corridors of power. He lived such a simple life that when he was born, he was laid in a borrowed manger. When he died, he was laid in a borrowed grave. Yet his words and deeds stand out so strong that 2000 years later, believers and doubters still talk about a before and after Christ.

Throughout the Spring, we are going to follow in the footsteps of Jesus. Examine who He was and what He did. Was he a cult leader? A cultural phenomenon? Are there credible eyewitnesses? How does this affect you?

On Sunday, February 11th, you are welcome to worship together with us at 11 am. That is when we begin our new sermon series "In His Footsteps".

Mats Särholm will be preaching. Song and music: Our choir, "Intro" and we will also be celebrating Holy Communion.

For our kids we have Smyrna Gold that starts at 11.15 on floor 3.

After the service, our café is open.

This is what Mats says for our upcoming Sunday:

The Footsteps of Jesus – Jesus calls His disciples

A handful of ordinary fishermen let go of everything they had in their hands, safe routines and income to follow the one who calls himself Jesus. He was the one who got them moving when he uttered the words "follow me".

Where does the road lead, what does it mean and how much will it cost? The same invitation is addressed to you and me, and the questions are also addressed to us. Are there any answers?

SUNDAY SCHOOL

For all children we have Smyrna Guld from 11.15 on floor 3.

Are you curious about our church?

At our “Path ahead” gatherings, we present our vision, mission, statement of faith, baptism and membership. Choose one of the days that suits you and make your registration beforehand to info@smyrnainternational.com

We would love to help you with your path ahead into our church.
