

IN HIS FOOTSTEPS

Who do you follow? We live in a digital reality where we follow bloggers, tweeters, Youtubers. We have our own followers on Instagram and Facebook.

How many followers do you have?

"Follow me," Jesus said. It wasn't a command. It was an invitation.

Those simple words started a revolution. 2024, Jesus has at the present more than 2 billion followers spread across the globe.

No historical figure has ever influenced as many people, communities, civilizations, cultures, and nations as Jesus Christ has.

He didn't start a political party, gathered no army, built no buildings, never wrote any books, didn't move in the corridors of power.

He lived such a simple life that when he was born, he was laid in a borrowed manger.

When he died, he was laid in a borrowed grave. Yet his words and deeds stand out clearly more than 2000 years later, believers and doubters still talk about a before and after Christ.

Throughout the Spring, we are going to follow in the footsteps of Jesus.

Examine who He was and what He did.

Was he leader of a cult? A cultural phenomenon? Are there credible eyewitnesses?

How does this affect you?
