Egil has extensive experience as a manager, including in Filadelfia church, Oslo. His heartbeat is all about a church for all generations and the entire life. When summing up his biggest challenge as a pastor, he says: "It's how we manage to build a church for all generations while winning new people!" He has accumulated both good and bad experiences. That's why he sat down ten years ago and wrote the book "Pass it on. A church for all generations!"

We have a God for all generations and a God for all of life. I'm never too old and I'm never too young. It's very inspiring!

The theme is highly topical and the book was published in a new Swedish edition in the autumn of 2024. There is usually both laughter and tears mixed with a high recognition factor when Egil gets started.

As the weekend approaches, you who are registered will receive more information, but don't wait.
