

The Bible is full of stories about children, women and men who experience things that make posterity consider them heroes. Their lives seem more like fairy tales than reality. But when we look closer, we discover that they were not that different from us.

They were both insecure and weak, but God saw something else; A willingness and desire to follow Him.

God doesn't seek the most qualified, but qualifies those who make themselves available.

This autumn's sermon series "Heroes or ordinary people" explores how everyday people are the real heroes. Join us and discover how ordinary people, like you and me, can become part of God's great story. A story of hope and transformation.
